I haven't been active on the forum for a few years (still lurk from time to time), but Paul always seemed to come across as a decent bloke. I was pretty shocked to hear of his passing....very sad. RIP

I met Paul once, in Battembang, when hand-delivering the two bottles of Jack Daniels that Paul won from me over a US presidential election bet.

Damn, he got me on that bet, too!!

Paul was definitely a character. It seems like he mellowed A LOT since moving to Cambodia and meeting his gal. Damn, but he loved his farming and his bees.

Best to his loved ones.

Should we start a donation fund to his family to help them at this time?
Just a thought
